

Different Beliefs: Inside the Home

In a Hindu home a girl will help her mother set up the family shrine each morning.

In a Buddhist home, everyone will meditate in silence.

In a Jewish home, a family meal is eaten every Friday evening and the father blesses his children.

In a Muslim home, the father will lead the family prayers every morning and evening.

In a Sikh home, children will say prayers in the morning and evenings.

In a Christian home, children will say prayers before they go to bed.

